

The most characteristic taste of Shinkansen is its rich sweetness. While the sugar content of ordinary pears is around 10 degrees, the sugar content of Shinkansen is 13 to 14 degrees. Because standards for sugar content are set during shipping, there is not much variation in sugar content. It is also characterized not only by its sweetness, but also by its crunchy texture.

The New Sweet Spring season runs from late August to early September. It has a very short harvest period among pear varieties.

We produce two types of pear liqueur: Japanese pear and pear. The Japanese pear expresses a crispy texture, while the pear expresses an image of melting in the mouth. Please enjoy the unique refreshing sweetness of pears with soda or sparkling wine.

The pears used as ingredients are not only from Tottori Prefecture, but also from several other regions.
